

Privacy and your Personal Information

From 1 November 2003, Complete Hire Pty Ltd ("CH") has voluntarily committed to complying with the NSW Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (the Act). This commitment is stated in the Customer Contract and requires CH to protect the privacy of its customers, business contacts and employees.

This policy sets out how CH collects, uses and discloses personal information, including your right of access and correction. It applies equally to conventional and electronic information.

Collection Accuracy, Retention & Security

CH will:

1. collect and retain personal information only if it is necessary for one of our functions or activities and will do this in a lawful, fair and reasonable way;
2. take reasonable steps to ensure that the personal information collected is relevant, not excessive, accurate, complete and up-to-date;
3. take reasonable steps to ensure the protection of personal information from misuse, loss and unauthorised access, modification and disclosure;
4. retain personal information for no longer than is necessary for legitimate purposes; and
5. destroy or permanently de-identify personal information, which is no longer used or required.

Disclosure and Use

CH will:

1. use collected information to provide the services you have requested or to meet the purpose for which the information was submitted. The information may also be aggregated for customer research purposes;
2. not collect, use or disclose sensitive information, such as information about a persons health, except with specific consent or in circumstances permitted by the Act;
3. ensure information provided to us will only be disclosed to a third party to the extent required to provide the requested services or to meet the purpose for which the information was submitted;
4. respect your wishes, if you tell us that you do not wish to have your personal information used or disclosed for a particular purpose, unless this is not legally or practically possible or conversely affects the purpose for which the information was submitted;
5. share information with several other Hire Companies, Mercantile Agents and Hire and Rental Industry as deemed necessary or reasonable for the purpose for which the information was submitted.
